Don't Make a Mountain out of a Molehill

We've all done it. We make little things into big things. Soon enough, those little molehills become huge mountains that keep us from accomplishing what we want to do in life.

Make a Molehill out of a Mountain

- Learn the leadership strategies that reduce your work without reducing your goal.
- See how to inspire individuals to personal and team success.
- Get more out of life by making "quality investments" in family, faith, work, and friends.
- Discover how to "Engage, Act and Win" to achieve the most in life.

Scale the Tallest Peaks in Life

Turn the cliché upside down, and develop habits that bring lifelong success!

Award-winning syndicated broadcaster and leadership trainer Andrew McCrea provides an insightful and authentic look at making the most of life and offers proven strategies on personal and team success. He masterfully intertwines humorous, real-life examples with thought-provoking stories of leadership under pressure. What results is a genuine, purpose-filled guide to scaling the tallest peaks in life.

Andrew's award-winning book is both an engaging keynote and workshop that has been tailored for success in a wide range of businesses and organizations.
