A Journey to Excellence

Andrew McCrea guides individuals and businesses to discover the "extra" that brings excellence in business and life. For the past two decades Andrew has traveled the country and the world producing his nationally syndicated radio and television broadcasts. He's interviewed Emmy and Grammy winners, Hall of Fame athletes and even been body-slammed by professional wrestlers!

However, some of his most insightful interviews are with people you may have never heard of, with a story you'll never forget. Their stories are unforgettable because "ordinary" individuals and businesses discovered the "extra" that propelled them to success both personally and in business...they became "Extraordinary" in their field.

Andrew's keynotes have been heard in boardrooms in Tokyo to arena audiences of over 10,000. He can share proven ways that discover the "Extra" and make a permanent move to Excellence. His leadership and communication training courses have been utilized by Fortune 500 companies.

He is the author of six books on life and leadership. His entertaining and enlightening real-life stories provide insight on how to find the extraordinary in what you and your organization do.
